

Nap Time

Gun is loaded with 6 rounds.
Extra mags are loaded to maximum allowed capacity.
Gun is placed in drawer
with muzzle pointing
downrange
along with extra mags. Mags must be stowed in pockets as no concealment is required.

You are taking an afternoon nap in your bed while your teenage daughter is in her room listening to the stereo. You are suddenly awakened by her screams. You get out of bed and retrieve your gun as you hear noises outside your open bedroom door. You decide to investigate and stumble onto a daylight home invasion gone bad. TAKE ACTION NOW!

Shooter starts laying on bed head pointed downrange, arms at his side and eyes closed. At buzzer shooter retrieves his gun and utilizing cover engages each target with 3 rounds minimum as the shooter sees them. Standard IDPA rules apply for use of cover and reloads. Vision barrier is placed so shooter may not see targets at third spot from bedroom. Care must be taken when opening drawer of nightstand. If muzzle of gun breaks 180 rule, shooter will be DQ'd. Care must also be taken when opening door, if muzzle of firearm sweeps the shooters body, shooter will be DQ'd.